Wife succumbs to injuries after Fort Rouge fire

The wife of an elderly man who died after fire ripped through their Fort Rouge area home early Thursday has also succumbed to her injuries.

Winnipeg police made the announcement at a news conference on Friday, adding that the cause of the fire is currently unknown and members of the arson unit are investigating.

Patrolling police officers noticed the "strong smell of acrid smoke" coming from the home at 547 Hethrington Ave. around 2:50 a.m.

When firefighters arrived, they found an elderly man and a 58-year-old woman inside the home, and both were taken to hospital in critical condition.

The man died from his injuries shortly after the incident. He has not been identified by police. However, neighbour Nettie Wagner identified the couple who live there as Bert and Joanne Parry, and said Bert was more than 80 years old. METRO/WITH FILES FROM THE CANADIAN PRESS

Legislation

Bill proposes lengthy job leaves for parents

The Manitoba government has tabled a bill proposing lengthy job leaves for parents with very sick kids.

The proposed legislation would give working parents up to 37 weeks off to care for a critically ill child.

Parents of young crime victims would also be eligible for a long leave.

It could be up to one year if a child disappeared as a result of a crime and as long as two years if a child died as a result of criminal violence. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winnipeggers can now see the latest addition to the mayor's family

Winnipeggers are getting their first look at the newest addition to Mayor Sam Katz's family. The mayor's office on Friday released a photograph of Katz, his wife, Leah, their son Aidan Alexander Zev and Katz's two daughters from his previous marriage, Kiera, 7, and Ava, 11. Aidan was born last Saturday at 10:46 p.m., weighing five pounds and 13 ounces.

QuickCare clinic opens in St. Boniface

Saving money.

QuickCare clinics are more cost-effective than visiting an ER or walk-in clinic, health minister says

"The QuickCare clinic services do not replace your regular visits to your current health-care provider," said Susan Stratford, community area director for St. Boniface and St. Vital for the Winnipeg Regional Health Authority, during Friday's press conference.

"But for those times when your family doctor may not be available or for times when other clinics are often closed, such as evenings or weekends, QuickCare clinic is a valuable option now available."

The clinic, located at 17 St.

Mary's Rd., will start seeing patients on Monday and will initially be open weekdays from 11 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., with the hours to expand later to include evenings, weekends and holidays.

Manitoba's Health Minister Theresa Oswald said QuickCare clinics are more cost-effective than visiting an ER or walk-in clinic.

"This will be another option for Manitobans to access the care that they need when they're concerned about how they feel or how one of their children feel, but they know very well that whatever that concern is, it isn't one that should be directed to an emergency room," said Oswald, adding the St. Boniface clinic will be staffed by nurse practitioners.

"They are able to sit down with you, to deal with some minor treatments ... so that you can get the care that you need, you can get access to medication, you can get that opinion that you need."

Oswald said Winnipeg's first QuickCare Clinic on McGregor Avenue has been a success, with more than 7,500 visits since that North End clinic opened earlier this year.

Winnipeg prof heads to Mars — in Quebec

Simulated rover mission. University of Winnipeg researcher says asbestos mine very much like Mars landscape

Canada's last asbestos mine, now winding down its operations, may have a new celestial calling — as a stand-in for planet Mars.

The Jeffrey Mine in the town of Asbestos, in southeastern Quebec, recently hosted nearly two dozen scientists for a simulated Mars mission initiated by Canada's space agency.

The scientists from four universities made a pair of trips to the Asbestos region this year and last year, accompanied by a micro-rover.

"There are definitely areas (on Mars) that are much more

A Mars Rover robot is put through its paces in the pit of the Jeffrey Mine in Asbestos, Que.

THE CANADIAN PRESS

like what we have at Jeffrey Mine," said Ed Cloutis, a University of Winnipeg professor who took part in the project.

The new vocation won't exactly replace the once-mighty asbestos industry as an economic lifeblood for the region.

The mine had been counting on a $58-million government loan to renovate and keep operating. The simulated Mars mission, on the whole, cost $800,000, and some local officials, including an alderman and the town's director general, didn't even appear to be aware of the project when contacted.

The goal of the project was to simulate as closely as possible a Mars rover mission to detect the presence and determine the source of methane on Mars.

Cloutis, an expert in planetary geology, said the scientific missions to the Asbestos region could be Canada's ticket to future trips to the Red Planet.

"One way to search for life on Mars is you look at the gases that might be produced or used as a food source by bacteria on Mars," Cloutis said.

Methane gas, which can be found at the mine, is one of two key signs of life. The other is water. Jeffrey, with a diameter of more than two kilometres and depth of 350 metres, was one of the largest open-pit mines in the world. It contains serpentinite, a rock that is prone to bacteria — the ultimate life form. Methane gas is a byproduct of bacteria.

Methane has already been detected in the Martian atmosphere and scientists are hoping NASA's Curiosity rover will find it on the planet.

Wes Jamroz, director of MPB Communications, says the Jeffrey Mine has a bright future as a Mars substitute.

"This mine is a very real environment to practise future deployment on Mars because you have the same rocks and you have the same environment," he said.

"During these two deployments, we were able to find out that there were natural traces of methane as well, so you have all the factors that you need."

Egypt's political sides grow more entrenched

Power struggle.
Fight over president's powers threatens to destabilize the country as stocks plunge amid ongoing chaos

Supporters and opponents of Egypt's president on Sunday grew more entrenched in their potentially destabilizing battle over the Islamist leader's move to assume near absolute powers, with neither side appearing willing to back down as the stock market plunged amid the fresh turmoil.

The standoff poses one of the hardest tests for the nation's liberal and secular opposition since Hosni Mubarak's ouster nearly two years ago. Failure to sustain protests and eventually force Mohammed Morsi to loosen control could consign it to long-term irrelevance.

Clashes between the two sides spilled onto the streets for a third day since the president issued edicts that make him immune to oversight of any kind, including that of the courts.

A teenager was killed and at least 40 people were wounded when a group of anti-Morsi protesters tried to storm the local offices of the political arm of the president's Muslim Brotherhood in the Nile Delta city of Damanhour, according to security officials.

It was the first reported death from the street battles that erupted across much of the nation on Friday, the day after Morsi's decrees were announced. The officials, who spoke on condition of anonymity because they were not authorized to speak to the media, identified the boy as 15-year-old Islam Hamdi Abdel-Maqsood.

The tensions also dealt a fresh blow to the economy, which has suffered due to the problems plaguing the Arab world's most populous nation since Mubarak's ouster.

Impact

Mohammed Morsi, who narrowly won the presidency in June, says his measures were designed to "protect the revolution."

- Economy. Egypt's benchmark EGX30 stock index dropped 9.59 percentage points Sunday in the first trading session since Morsi issued his decrees. The losses were among the biggest since the turbulent days and weeks immediately after Mubarak's ouster in a popular uprising last year. The loss in the value of shares was estimated at close to $5 billion.

- Pushback. The judiciary, the main target of the edicts, has pushed back, calling the decrees a power grab and an "assault" on the branch's independence. Judges and prosecutors stayed away from many courts in Cairo and other cities on Sunday.

Feds offloading part of pledge to resettle refugees onto private sector

The federal government is seeking to offload some of its international promises to refugees onto the private sector.

They're asking community groups to sponsor 1,000 of the refugees the Canadian government has told the United Nations it will resettle over the next three years.

But at the same time, they are restricting the groups' ability to sponsor refugees themselves by placing caps on private applications.

A leading Islamic cleric in the Gaza Strip has ruled it a sin to violate the recent ceasefire between Israel and the Hamas militant group that governs the Palestinian territory — according a religious legitimacy to the truce and giving the Gaza government strong backing to enforce it.

The fatwa, or religious edict, was issued late Saturday by Suleiman al-Daya, a cleric respected by both ultra-conservative Salafis and Hamas. Salafi groups oppose political accommodations with Israel.

Congo and M23 rebels negotiate in Uganda

Congolese officials were in talks Sunday with representatives of M23, the rebel group that last week took control of the eastern Congo city of Goma, according to Ugandan officials.

Ugandan Defence Minister Crispus Kiyonga said that he is mediating discussions to help both sides reach a settlement that would end a violent rebellion that has sucked in Uganda and Rwanda, which both face charges of backing the rebels.

M23 president Jean-Marie Runiga is leading the rebels in the talks, according to Rene Abandi, M23's head of external relations.

Female inmate alleges she was 'thrown in the hole' for no bra

Dress code. Niagara artist says she received 2 weeks in segregation cell, 5 days pulled from early release date

 JESSICA SMITH
Metro in Toronto

An inmate at the Vanier Centre for Women in Milton, Ont., has filed a complaint alleging correctional officers put her in a segregation cell and tacked on five extra days to her sentence because she refuses to wear a bra.

"I was locked down in a segregation cell from the morning of Nov. 1 to the afternoon of Nov. 15. I was first charged with misconduct for not wearing a bra," Jeannette Tossounian, who is currently serving a sentence for arson, wrote in a letter to Metro.

"A few days later, I was charged with another misconduct for saying I don't want to wear a bra and was given five extra days to spend in jail from my early release date, December 2013."

The Elizabeth Fry Society confirmed that Tossounian has filed an official complaint about the incident.

Ministry of Community Safety and Correctional Services spokesman Brent Ross would not comment on the allegations, but confirmed that female inmates are required to wear bras.

"We have policies in place to ensure inmates are treated justly and humanely in all sections of our facilities, including segregation," he said in an email response. "While incarcerated, inmates can be awarded remitted time, which is a reduction of a sentence for good conduct, and they can also lose their remitted time or have their privileges suspended if they commit a serious misconduct."

Tossounian said her aversion to bras wasn't always a problem for her in jail.

"To (force) a woman to wear a bra, inmate or not, is a violation of human rights. It is sexual discrimination that breaks a woman down into body parts that must be controlled because these parts are female," she wrote.

Tossounian also wrote that the incident made her feel helpless.

Devastating inferno

Bangladesh. At least 112 people killed in a fire that raced through multi-storey garment factory outside capital

The death toll could rise in a fire that struck outside Bangladesh's capital city on Sunday, as the search for victims continues, an official said.

The blaze broke out at a seven-storey factory operated by Tazreen Fashions late Saturday evening. By Sunday morning, firefighters had recovered 100 bodies, fire department operations director Maj. Mohammad Mahbub told The Associated Press.

He said another 12 people who had suffered injuries after jumping from the building to escape the fire later died at hospitals. The cause of the blaze was not immediately clear, and authorities have ordered an investigation.

Bangladesh has some 4,000 garment factories, many without proper safety measures. The country annually earns about $20 billion from exports of garment products, mainly to the United States and Europe.

Relatives of the factory workers were frantically looking for their loved ones. Sabina Yasmine said she saw the body of her daughter-in-law, who died in the fire, but had no trace of her son, who also worked at the factory. "Oh, Allah, where's my soul? Where's my son?" wailed Yasmine, who works at another factory in the area. "I want the factory owner to be hanged. For him, many have died, many have gone."

Mahbub said firefighters recovered 69 bodies from the second floor of the factory alone.

Pakistan. Roadside bomb kills six

A bombing claimed by the Taliban killed at least six people and wounded some 90 others at a Shiite religious procession in northwestern Pakistan on Sunday, police said, as the minority Muslim sect observes the annual Ashoura holiday.

Since Wednesday, at least 31 have been killed in bombings aimed at Pakistani Shiites and claimed by the Taliban, who espouse an extremist interpretation of Sunni Islam.

More than 100 were wounded in the attacks during the run-up to the holiday, which commemorates the seventh-century death of the Prophet Muhammad's grandson. The schism between Sunnis and Shiites dates back to that time.

Sunday's explosion went off as hundreds of Shiites were passing through the main intersection of the city of Dera Ismail Khan, police said, where food and water stalls were set up to serve the crowd. An initial investigation suggested a bomb was planted near a shop along the procession route.

"The bomb contained about eight kilograms of explosives and steel balls, and was detonated with a remote control device," city police chief Sohail Khalid said.

Several of the injured are in serious condition, said Dr. Faridullah Mahsud, an official at the city's hospital, who added that three members of a paramilitary unit providing security for the procession were among the injured.

Why wait for Boxing Day? Deal season comes early

Black Friday, Cyber Monday. Longtime U.S. discount weekend is now taking root on Canadian soil

As hype surrounding Cyber Monday and Black Friday spreads north of the border, experts say the burgeoning weekend-long holiday sales event could soon surpass Boxing Day as the busiest shopping period of the year.

With the frenzy of what could be Canada's biggest-ever Black Friday over, deal-seekers are turning their focus to Cyber Monday, a day of deep online discounts held the Monday after the busiest shopping day of the year in the U.S.

For years, both events were largely U.S. phenomena that had Canadians who wanted to participate visiting American websites or making cross-border trips on the day after U.S. Thanksgiving, which marks the start of the crucial holiday shopping season when retailers turn profits, or go "into the black."

Shop online, avoid mall fatigue: Cousins Maricruz Munoz, 15, left, and Monica Murillo, 15, sleep on a break from Black Friday shopping at Woodland Hills Mall on Friday, in Tulsa, Okla. But a combination of factors — U.S. competitors setting up shop in Canada, Canadian retailers trying to keep sales local, Canadians' shifting shopping habits and tight-fisted consumers with shaky confidence in the economy — are helping to establish the events on Canadian soil.

Willy Kruh, global chairman in retail markets at KPMG, said he wouldn't be surprised if the four days from Black Friday to Cyber Monday soon overtake Boxing Day, now expanded to Boxing Week, as the best period for retailers in Canada.

TILLBAKA TILL FRAMTIDEN (BACK TO THE FUTURE, IN SWEDISH)

URBAN

Colin Fast
winnipeg@metronews.ca

A retailer with European roots opens a giant new store in Winnipeg, marking the city's rise as a major player in Canada.

Special guests, including the mayor and premier, attend the official opening ceremony, while hundreds of people wait outside, eager to see the merchandise and have a meal in the store's massive lunchroom.

This week's launch of Ikea? No, try hopping in the DeLorean for a trip back to July 15, 1905 for the much-anticipated opening of the downtown Eaton's.

Media reports of the time seem awfully familiar, as they describe every feature of the new store in fine detail, and leave no doubt that it will have a significant impact on Winnipeg for years to come.

As it turned out, those predictions were correct, as Eaton's became the store of choice for generations of Winnipeggers, and a major employer and landmark in the downtown.

But it remains to be seen if Ikea will have anywhere close to the same staying power and cultural impact. For some reason, I can't see people linking arms and hugging that giant metal box if the city ever threatens to knock it down, like it did with Eaton's. But maybe I'm underestimating the drawing power of the meatballs.

Just like Eaton's opened up the development of retail on Portage Avenue, Ikea is also anchoring a major new shopping area that will draw people from across the city and make permanent changes to traffic patterns.

The plans to accommodate those changes sparked an interesting bit of intergovernmental squabbling last week.

First, MP Rod Bruinooge questioned whether the city has done enough to handle the extra Ikea-related traffic in southwest Winnipeg. Then, Coun. Paula Havixbeck shot back at the federal government, blaming it for delays in widening Kenaston to six lanes between Ness and Taylor.

While Bruinooge and Havixbeck are both right to be concerned about the issue, why did they wait until a week before Ikea opens to voice their concerns on a project that's been under development for four years?

At this point, it just seems like an attempt to get something on the record so that when the eventual smorgasbord of traffic problems does occur, both can say: "I told you so."

Finally, now that our long civic dream of landing an Ikea is realized (and with Target soon to follow), many Winnipeggers have already moved on to new ideas about how to enhance our city. Ideas like:

"When are we going to get our H&M? Or our Bass Pro? How about Lowe's? When is Chipotle coming to town? For the love of God, will someone tell me when Whole Foods will be here?"

Yes, it seems the opening of every new chain store or restaurant just fuels our appetite for more of the same, as we attempt to define ourselves by our shopping options.

And if that's the case, can I make one request? Can we have Eaton's back?

Cambridge University

Centre to study risk of technology to humans

Britain's Cambridge University says it is planning to open a new centre to study the risks that super-intelligent computers could pose to humanity.

The university says the proposed Center for the Study of Existential Risk will bring together academics to consider how accelerating development in artificial intelligence and other technologies can "threaten our own existence."

Huw Price, a philosophy professor at Cambridge, said that while the idea that computer robotics could take over control from humans may seem far-fetched, it is worth taking the potential risks seriously.

He says that the exact nature of the risks is difficult to predict, but that this underlines the need to understand more about artificial intelligence.

The university said the centre's launch is planned for next year.

Artwork puts CDs in a good light

An artist has created a festive display of light, using thousands of old CDs. Bruce Munro's work, entitled Blue Moon on a Platter, forms part of the Christmas decorations at Waddesdon Manor in Buckinghamshire, England, a Neo-Renaissance style of a French château originally built for the prominent Rothschild family of bankers.

The "moon," which measures 1.5 metres in diameter, is made up of 101 spheres containing coiled optic fibers. It glows with blue light, which is passed along the fiber optics via a metal halide projector. It took Munro and his team of more than a dozen volunteers one week to install.

Artist's viewpoint

Metro: What's special about the material of CDs?

Munro: Their iridescent quality of reflecting light — they look just like a rainbow. But what's so unusual about the CDs is that they seem to reflect light better when there is not a lot of natural light around.

No love for Bieber's halftime show from Grey Cup crowd

CFL. Bieber booed, Lightfoot lauded during splashy halftime show

Justin Bieber faced a hostile homecoming at the 100th Grey Cup on Sunday, with the jeering capacity crowd at the raucous Rogers Centre providing the teen idol with a reception as unyieldingly cold as a long Canadian winter.

The 18-year-old grew up roughly 150 kilometres down the road in Stratford, Ont., but that didn't help his cause with the rowdy crowd on hand, who took aim at the ubiquitous pop star whenever possible.

They booed when his face popped up on the Jumbotron. They booed when a host spoke his name at the onset of halftime. And they booed with extra glee as he took the stage and throughout his medley of the finger-snapping, chart-topping hit Boyfriend and the disco-inflected club come-on Beauty and a Beat.

If Bieber was bothered by the boo-birds, it didn't show.

"It's an honour to be here at the Grey Cup in Canada," he said, a smile tugging at his lips despite the reaction.

"Make some noise. I said make some noise!"

Unfortunately, the crowd obliged. More boos.

As he wrapped up Beat a dazzling array of pyrotechnic lights popped into the air and at first the crowd responded enthusiastically. But once again, the cheers dissolved into boos.

"Thank you so much Canada," Bieber announced, ignoring the response. "I love you."

Most figured that while Bieber is a bona fide draw — an international star and tabloid fixture whose latest record Believe became his third straight to reach multi-platinum status in Canada after its June release — most of those fans simply weren't at the game.

"J-Biebs doesn't scream football, you know? Neither does Carly Rae Jepsen," said Calgary's Ryan Prisque, 22.

"Gordon Lightfoot — that'll be the time I turn back from the beer gardens and watch."

The 74-year-old Lightfoot certainly did captivate the crowd Sunday. With the stadium lights down, Lightfoot opened the halftime show by materializing on a modest stage near the 50-yard line, dressed in black and strumming an acoustic guitar. The crowd roared.

Pop outfit Marianas Trench was greeted mostly with indifference, while Jepsen also received a mixed reaction at first but won the crowd over during an enthusiastic medley of her latest single, This Kiss, and her smash hit Call Me Maybe. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dallas J.R. actor Larry Hagman brought 'joy to everyone he knew'

Remembering a legend. Actor, who was reprising infamous role in a new edition of popular TV series, succumbs to cancer

J.R. Ewing was a business cheat, faithless husband and bottomless well of corruption. Yet with his sparkling grin, Larry Hagman masterfully created the charmingly loathsome oil baron — and coaxed forth a Texas-size gusher of ratings — on television's long-running and hugely successful nighttime soap, Dallas.

Although he first gained fame as nice guy Capt. Tony Nelson on the fluffy 1965-70 NBC comedy I Dream of Jeannie, Hagman earned his greatest stardom with J.R. The CBS serial drama about the Ewing family and those in their orbit aired from April 1978 to May 1991, and broke viewing records with its Who shot J.R.? 1980 cliffhanger that left unclear if Hagman's character was dead.

The actor, who returned as J.R. in a new edition of Dallas this year, had a long history of health problems and died Friday due to complications from his battle with cancer, his family said.

"Larry was back in his beloved hometown of Dallas, re-enacting the iconic role he loved the most. Larry's family and closest friends had joined him in Dallas for the Thanksgiving holiday," the family said in a statement that was provided to The Associated Press by Warner Bros., producer of the show.

The 81-year-old actor was surrounded by friends and family before he passed peacefully, "just as he'd wished for," the statement said.

Linda Gray, his on-screen wife and later ex-wife in the original series and the sequel, was among those with Hagman in his final moments in a Dallas hospital, said her publicist, Jeffrey Lane.

"He brought joy to everyone he knew. He was creative, generous, funny, loving and talented, and I will miss him enormously.

"He was an original and lived life to the fullest," the actress said.

Mourning

Fans pay respect

Tourists and locals flocked to Southfork Ranch on Saturday, bringing flowers in memory of Larry Hagman, who played the infamous J.R. Ewing on the TV show Dallas.

Hagman died in Dallas, Texas on Friday at age 81 due to complications from his battle with cancer.

Southfork, a ranch north of Dallas, was known to millions of viewers as the Ewing family home. Exterior shots of the house and pool were shown when the series aired from 1978 to 1991, although the show wasn't filmed there.

The ranch has been open for tours since the mid-1980s, and now sees more than 100,000 visitors each year. Each room of the house has a theme for each character.

On Saturday, J.R. Ewing's room had flowers and a card for tourists to sign.

"Today is about Larry Hagman and his family," said Janna Timm, a Southfork Ranch & Hotel spokeswoman. "He was such a wonderful person, and we will really miss him."

Cruise flies in daughter for Thanksgiving

Even though Tom Cruise is currently on location in London filming All You Need is Kill, he still got to spend Thanksgiving with his daughter, six-year-old Suri Cruise, who was flown in for the occasion, according to Us Weekly.

The holiday was the "first time he's seen Suri in a long time," a source says.

Ex-wife Katie Holmes, meanwhile, headed to her parents' home in Toledo, Ohio, for the big day before returning to New York for a Friday evening performance of her Broadway play, Dead Accounts.

OUR TAKE ON THE WORLD OF CELEBRITIES

The Word

Berry caught in the middle as ex-boyfriend and fiancé go to war

It was a pretty dramatic Thanksgiving for Halle Berry as her ex-boyfriend Gabriel Aubry and fiancé Olivier Martinez came to blows during an argument when Aubry dropped off Nahla, the four-year-old daughter he shares with Berry, for the holiday, according to The Associated Press.

TMZ reports that Martinez broke his hand and sustained neck injuries in the fight, while Aubry walked away with a broken rib, facial contusions and a possible head injury.

Sources tell Us Weekly that Aubry "initiated" the fight after having words with Martinez.

"He shoved Olivier, then punched him. Olivier just defended himself," a source says.

Aubry was arrested and released on $20,000 bail.

He's due in court Dec. 13. Immediately following the scuffle, Berry obtained an emergency protective order against Aubry that forbids him from coming within 100 yards of Berry, Martinez or Nahla.

The order is set to expire Tuesday, but Berry is reportedly taking Aubry to court in hopes of making the restraining order permanent.

Taylor Swift

Swift talks about relationship mistakes she has made

Taylor Swift is well aware that she has a problem with falling in love too fast.

"I don't think there's an option for me to fall in love slowly or at medium speed. I either do or I don't. I don't think it through, really, which is a good and a bad thing," the 22-year-old singer tells Parade magazine, adding that in retrospect, her relationships don't always seem to be all that they are cracked up to be.

"I tend to think things are love and then look back and re-evaluate," she says.

"I know how many people I've said, 'I love you' to. I could probably count it up, but I don't feel like it. Part of me feels like you can't say you were truly in love if it didn't last. If I end up getting married and having kids, that's when I'll know it's real — because it lasted."

Got dog fever? Or maybe you're itching for a kitten? Adopting an animal for the first time can be a rewarding experience for any new owner. Studies show that pet ownership can be on par with human friendship when it comes to emotional benefits like increased self-esteem and fewer feelings of loneliness.

But with great company comes great responsibility. Even if you have your heart set on welcoming a lively German shepherd into your home, it's important to select the right pet for you, your family and your lifestyle.

"For single people, or households where people are out a lot, a dog's probably not going to be the best pet," suggests Dr. Simon Starkey, a veterinarian at PetSmart's headquarters in Arizona. Without company for extended periods of time, dogs can suffer from separation anxiety. Cats, on the other hand, tend to be more independent and content spending less time with their owners.

But that's not to say a particular type of animal should be out of the question. Meet Your Match, a program spearheaded by the American SPCA, helps hopeful owners find the right kind of furry friend for them.

"It's like eHarmony for dogs and cats," says Alison Cross, spokesperson for the Ontario SPCA. Pets go through personality assessments while prospective owners complete questionnaires to identify traits and needs in order to make the best match for both parties.

Maybe a smaller, less demanding animal, like a hamster or a guinea pig, is more fitting to your lifestyle. Little creatures with much shorter life expectancies may be a great introduction to pet care. Smaller animals still do require

Give dinner an ooey, gooey touch with cheesy casserole

This recipe serves six. MATTHEW MEAD / THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Side dish. Asparagus & Haricots Verts with Goat Cheese and Pine Nuts

1. In a medium skillet over medium, heat the 1 teaspoon of olive oil. Add the pine nuts and cook just until fragrant and lightly toasted, about 2 minutes. Sprinkle with the coriander and season with salt. Set aside.

2. Prepare a large bowl of ice water. Bring a large pot of salted water to a boil.

3. Blanch the haricots verts in the boiling water until bright green and just tender, about 3 minutes. Use a slotted spoon to immediately remove them to the ice water. Repeat the process with the asparagus, cooking it for 4 to 5 minutes depending on the thickness of the stalks.

Ingredients

- 1 tsp olive oil, plus additional for drizzling
- 1/2 cup pine nuts
- 1 tbsp ground coriander
- Salt
- 1 lb haricots verts, trimmed
- 2 lb asparagus, trimmed of woody ends, sliced lengthwise
- 1/4 cup chopped golden raisins
- 1/2 cup grated firm goat cheese

"Forgive me for getting a little 'cheesy' here, but that's just what this one-dish wonder is all about: cheese," writes Dave Venable in his cookbook, In the Kitchen with David. "Everything we love about melted cheese — rich, ooey, gooeyness — is right here in this cheeseburger casserole."

1. Heat the oven to 350 F.

2. Bring a large pot of water to a boil. Add 1 tablespoon of the salt and the macaroni and cook until tender but still firm to the bite, 7 to 8 minutes. Drain well.

3. Heat a large skillet over medium-high heat. Add the beef and onion and cook, stirring, until the beef is well browned. Carefully drain the fat from the skillet, then stir in the tomato sauce, the remaining 1 teaspoon of salt, and the black pepper. Bring to a simmer over low heat while preparing the remaining ingredients.

4. In bowl, combine ricotta, sour cream, bell pepper and scallions. Spread half of the pasta in a 9-by-13-inch baking

Ingredients

- 1 tbsp plus 1 tsp kosher salt
- 16-oz package elbow macaroni
- 2 lbs ground beef
- 1 large onion, chopped
- Two 8-oz cans tomato sauce
- 1/8 tsp ground black pepper
- 1 cup ricotta cheese
- 1/4 cup sour cream
- 1/3 cup chopped green bell pepper
- 1/3 cup chopped scallions
- 1/2 cup shredded cheddar cheese
- 1/4 cup shredded mozzarella
- 1/4 cup parsley, chopped dish. Top with the ricotta mixture, then the remaining pasta. Pour the meat mixture over the top. Sprinkle with the cheddar and mozzarella.

5. Bake casserole until the cheese is melted and lightly browned, about 20 minutes. Sprinkle with parsley before serving. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS/DAVE VENABLE'S IN THE KITCHEN WITH DAVID, BALLANTINE BOOKS, 2012

Author and motivational speaker Rick Brinkman has been speaking to companies for over two decades. In the mid-'90s he co-authored the workplace classic, Dealing With People You Can't Stand, utilizing psychological research to help co-workers avoid brawling in the cubicles.

What's the most common type of annoying co-worker?

Annoying is in the eye of the beholder, and there are different types of annoying people. For instance: If someone makes commitments they don't keep, I might find that annoying to no end. But you may intuitively know how to slow down and make it safe for that person to make a realistic commitment. Your particular annoyance may

How do you know if you are, in fact, the annoying person at work?

When people read our book, they tend to recognize what they do very quickly. It's somewhat innocent, and we all do at least one of these behaviours now and again. It's just that there are certain ones we're more likely to go to under stress.

How do you cut back on your own annoying behaviours?

You can start by recognizing the particular type of negative behaviour that comes out of you under stress. Then ask yourself, "How is this working for me? Am I getting what I want? What reactions am I getting from others?" Usually people find that this behaviour is creating their own worst nightmare. Once they realize that, it's easier to change.

Is there a difference between how we exhibit these behaviours at home versus the workplace?

Yes! It can be totally opposite. Some people are a total "tank" (overly controlling) at work and a "nothing" (nonresponsive) at home. I recently interviewed a CEO who was very much a get-it-done control person at work. But she noticed she was whining to her husband about the business. Her husband could not understand how she could run a company, because she constantly presented herself as a victim. But the behaviour is totally different, because the context of the relationship is totally different.

Cassandra Rush loved boots, but was frustrated when she would try some of them on and the zippers wouldn't go all the way to the top.

After doing some research, she realized that no one was offering boots with different calf sizes. Securing a loan through the Canadian Business Foundation, Rush developed a business plan and travelled to Mexico to work with a manufacturer. Sassy Cassy's Boots was born and today she designs and manufactures her specialty boots that are worn by celebrities — and happy customers everywhere.

Action Plan

• Be money smart

When a lot of people start a new business, they think they will be successful right away, but it takes five years to be noticed in the marketplace. You have to be money smart to get you through the first years of your business.

• Find free marketing

Embrace all your free marketing initiatives to the fullest potential. Social media, articles, whatever you can find, take full advantage of everything to grow your business.

• Don't give up

You will go through ups and downs in your business and there will always be people who say no. But at the end of the day, there will be a door that opens. As long as you have a dream and a vision, it can come true!

SHOPPERS SURFING FOR THE BEST DEALS

You know by now about Black Friday, the deeply discounted shopping day that kicks off the U.S. Christmas shopping season. But how about Cyber Monday?

As Bill Rand explains it, Cyber Monday grew as an online counterpart to Black Friday, which generally falls after the U.S. Thanksgiving. "The idea was that online retailers would offer great holiday deals the Monday after (American) Thanksgiving similar to the deals that brick and mortar shops offer the Friday after Thanksgiving," says Rand, the assistant professor of marketing and director for the University of Maryland's Robert H. Smith School of Business. But recently, Cyber Monday has become a bit of a misnomer, Rand adds. "Originally, Cyber Monday was on Monday because people would be at their work computers on Monday, but with the growth of the use of tablets and smartphones for online commerce, Cyber Monday had been extended and now many of the deals are offered on Black Friday as well."

That's the emerging trend marking 2012's Cyber Monday — the appearance of deals as early as the Friday morning before. "Given the recovering economy and the fact that consumers are feeling more positive about their wallets than they have in a while, retailers are looking to capitalize on this trend by offering discounts and deals to get them in stores — or in the case of Cyber Monday, on to their website," Rand says.

"Black Friday was originally called Black Friday because it was a single shopping day that could put a retailer into the 'black' or profitable for the whole year. And retailers hope that this year will definitely bear out that name."

According to the Toronto-based Interac Association, about 19 per cent of Canadians report they will likely shop online on Cyber Monday. "And according to our Interac survey, online shoppers expect to spend an estimated average of $303 that day," says Teri Murphy, senior manager, corporate and stakeholder relations. Hot items include video games, books, ebooks and DVDs, clothing and accessories, computers, tablets, e-readers, mobile phones and MP3 players.

"And the release of the new Wii U and several major games means the video game market should remain strong," adds Rand.

"Other technology items like HD TVs will remain popular. Often during downturns people put off buying new TVs and other consumer durables that are failing, and so as we come out of the downturn these items tend to be purchased at a sharper rate."

FIND DISCOUNTS, DEALS ONLINE AT EZ MARKETING

Before you cross the border, visit ezmarketing.ca.

For decades, EZ Marketing has provided Manitobans with great deals and discounts on shopping in North Dakota and Minnesota, through its inserts in other publications. But it offers you far more online. In fact, it offers you practically everything you need to prepare for a shopping trip south.

Do you want to know what the weather's going to be like in communities like Grand Forks? EZ Marketing's website can tell you. Its Weather Widget gives you the temperature and current conditions at a glance. If you want a more comprehensive forecast, just click through to reach the Weather Network.

You can also access current highway conditions, U.S. gas prices, and estimated wait-times at border crossings — all relevant information before or during your travels. The website features are fully accessible on mobile devices.

You'll arrive in the U.S. well-prepared to shop. EZ Marketing's website provides direct links to major retailers' sales and flyers, as well as more than 20 affiliated online shopping sites, like Buy.com, Skymall, Hotwire and many more.

And of course, the company's traditional coupons are available online too. There are even a few you won't find in EZ Marketing's print insert. To access your online coupons, simply download the appropriate PDF from the website, print it out, and start clipping.

Your next shopping trip could be the most efficient, comfortable, and affordable you've ever had. To find out how, simply visit ezmarketing.ca before you leave.

SHARE TO EARN REWARDS WITH NEW MARKETPLACE ONLINE AT SHOP.CA

Pam Bryant loves a good deal, and when she signed up at the online mall shop.ca, she didn't know the half of it.

What caught the eye of 38-year-old Bryant was the $25 sign-up bonus, which she could use on her first purchase of $100. She went shopping on the website almost immediately, bought a well-priced LED TV, and used the bonus money towards it. Bryant liked the TV so much she shared the purchase on her Facebook wall and a few weeks later, posted a review — and that's when things got really good. When one of her friends clicked on her post and signed up to shop.ca, Bryant got a referral credit of $25. Then, when her friend spent her first $75 on the same TV, Bryant received 1 per cent of that purchase amount in her account too.

"It was way more than I bargained for," says Bryant, a wife and mom in Hamilton, Ont. "It's all about sharing information on my social networks, which I do all the time anyway, and now I get cash rewards in return."

"Our innovative Social Loyalty Network sets us apart from any other Rewards program," says Trevor Newell, founder and president of shop.ca. "We want Canadians to share the products they love with their friends, and we'll reward them for doing so every step — and share — of the way."

Shop.ca is a new and exciting online marketplace that features millions of products and thousands of brands from around the world. You can buy everything from living room furniture to pillows and tools.

Shop.ca has streamlined the whole process of online shopping in Canada, according to Drew Green, founder and chief executive officer.

When you buy at shop.ca, all your purchases go into one shopping cart, with a simple checkout process and multiple payment options. Once ordered, shop.ca ensures your order is delivered right to your door.

There aren't cross-border duty charges

THE SOCIAL LOYALTY NETWORK

Do you like to talk to your friends about the things you buy? Now you can turn that pastime into cash, says Trevor Newell, founder and president of shop.ca.

Members of the Social Loyalty Network at shop.ca can get from 1 to 2.5 per cent cash rewards when they share their purchases and post reviews via Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn or by email. They can also earn when a friend buys the same product from a link they shared.

Members also get $25 for every person they refer to shop.ca and when that friend makes a first purchase of $75 or more.

Sign-up is free and all new members get a $25 sign-up bonus to spend on a $100 purchase and 0.5 per cent cash rewards as a starting point on every purchase they make. That 0.5 per cent can turn into 2.5 per cent when they share and earn at shop.ca.

— or hassles — and there's no charge for shipping or returns. The return policy gives you up to 365 days to return an item.

Says Green: "We also have an amazing team of customer loyalty leaders right here in Canada who chat on the phone or online with you. They've even been known to drive to houses to get a product to somebody if there's been a delivery hiccup."

THE WORLD'S COOLEST 'ROBOT TOYS'

KIDS OF ALL AGES WILL LOVE THESE CYBER TOYS

For Cyber Monday, shop.ca offers both the Sphero and Robosapien at a special price of $109 each. But if you sign up today and become a member of shop.ca, you can use the $25 sign-up bonus against the price.

THE AMAZING SPHERO

The Sphero is being heralded as the year's hottest gadget toy.

The Sphero smart "robot" is housed in a round and durable shell roughly the size of a baseball. You control it with a tilt, touch, or swing from your smartphone or tablet. Or, you can use Sphero as a controller for on-screen games. Sphero is iOS- and Android-compatible, and there are lots of games and apps available for download.

With the Sphero Golf app, for example, create a "hole," then swing your smartphone to put Sphero towards it.

The Chromo app lets you challenge yourself in a new way — by holding Sphero in your hand and moving it to match colours on your screen.

Or, download Sharky the Beaver, the first app that lets you take a virtual three-dimensional character for a walk around your house.

You get more than an hour of non-stop play, with cable-free induction charging.

THE WORLD'S FRIENDLIEST HOME ROBOT

Bring home WowWee's 14-inch Robosapien remote control robot — and watch the fun and silliness begin.

Designed by a NASA scientist, Robosapien has a full range of motions and interactive sensors as well as a unique personality.

Robosapien has fast, full function arms with grippers and working hands, and can walk, run and turn, shake hands, and even speak fluent international "caveman."

In all, there are 67 pre-programmed functions including pick-up, throw, kick, sweep, dance, belch, rap, and many different kung-fu moves.

Robosapien is easy-to-use with no complicated setup or need for a computer. It is easily controlled by an ergonomic remote and runs on regular batteries for more than six hours.

Argos give Toronto a championship

100th Grey Cup. Hosts hold on to win after hot start vs. Stampeders

A rugged defence staggered the Calgary Stampeders before Ricky Ray delivered the knock-out punch and earned the Toronto Argonauts a historic Grey Cup victory Sunday.

Toronto's defence, under the guidance of former Calgary assistant Chris Jones, held CFL rushing leader Jon Cornish to 57 yards while pressuring quarterback Kevin Glenn before Ray's seven-yard TD pass to Andre Durie late in the game cemented the Argonauts' 35-22 win in the 100th edition of the CFL championship.

Ray, acquired last December in a blockbuster trade with Edmonton, finished 18-of-30 passing for 231 yards and two TDs.

The Argos dominated a potent Calgary offence that scored 51 TDs this season — tied with Montreal for the league lead — holding it to just four field goals before Maurice Price's TD catch and two-point conversion with 20 seconds remaining.

Defensive back Pacino Horne brought the rabid Rogers Centre sellout crowd of 53,208 to its feet in the opening half. His key 25-yard TD interception return staked Toronto to a dominant 18-point halftime advantage.

Calgary came in as the CFL's hottest team with 13 wins in 15 games after opening the season 3-4. Glenn guided the club to nine wins in 14 starts after incumbent Drew Tate injured his shoulder. He then replaced the injured Tate (forearm) to lead the Stampeders past the defending Grey Cup champion B.C. Lions in last weekend's West final.

Calgary also boasted the CFL's top rusher in Cornish, the league's top Canadian after running for 1,457 yards this season.

But Glenn and Co. had no answer for Toronto's swarming defence as the Argos ended their season with a fifth straight victory.

"We didn't start well. We didn't take advantage of their turnover and they got two touchdowns on theirs," Stampeders coach John Hufnagel said. "But the bottom line was that we didn't get the ball into the end zone until the game was out of reach."

Toronto Argonauts running back Chad Kackert was named the outstanding player of the 100th Grey Cup.

Kackert's 20 carries for 133 yards helped lift the Argos to a 35-22 win over the Calgary Stampeders on Sunday.

He also recorded eight catches for 62 yards.

Kackert was an impact player for Toronto throughout the post-season.

The Simi Valley, Calif., native scored twice as the Argos downed the Edmonton Eskimos in the East Division semifinal two weeks ago.

He then added a spectacular 49-yard TD run up the middle to give Toronto the lead in an upset 27-20 victory in Montreal in the East final last Sunday.

Argos defensive end Ricky Foley was named the game's most outstanding Canadian.

The 30-year-old from Courtice, Ont., had four tackles, one fumble recovery and one sack for five yards.

Foley joined Toronto in 2010 after four seasons with the B.C. Lions.
